

Writing a Post-War Reflection: Things to think about...

- Are you at the Appomattox Court House at the time of Lee's surrender? If not, where are you? How did you find out?
- How do you feel about the war ending?
- How do you feel toward the Confederate soldiers?
- How have your experiences in this war changed you? How are different now than when the war first began?
- What will you do with your life now?
- Do you think your country can be repaired? Do you think the North & South can work together again?
